DETAILED ACTION

EXAMINER'S AMENDMENT

1. An examiner's amendment to the record appears below. Should the changes and/or additions be unacceptable to applicant, an amendment may be filed as provided by 37 CFR 1.312. To ensure consideration of such an amendment, it MUST be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee.

Authorization for this examiner's amendment was given in a telephone interview with Mr. Bednarek, Michael (office), on September 19, 2007.

2. The application has been amended as follows.

IN THE CLAIMS

In claim 1, line 24, after "said user" please add --; and wherein said main body comprises a glasses frame having lower segments corresponding to the right and left eyes, said right-eye display means being provided on or in said lower segment of said glasses frame that is corresponding to the right eye whereas said left-eye display means being provided on or in said lower segment of said glasses frame that is corresponding to the left eye--.

In claim 15, line 19, after "an integrated unit" please add --; and wherein said main body comprises a glasses frame having lower segments corresponding to the right and left eyes, said right-eye display means being provided on or in said lower segment of said glasses frame that is corresponding to the right eye whereas said left-eye display means being provided on or in said lower segment of said glasses frame that is corresponding to the left eye--.

In claim 16, line 23, after "at appropriate positions" please add --; and wherein said main body comprises a glasses frame having lower segments corresponding to the right and left eyes, said right-eye display means being provided on or in said lower segment of said glasses frame that is corresponding to the right eye whereas said left-eye display means being provided on or in said lower segment of said glasses frame that is corresponding to the left eye--.

Allowable Subject Matter

3. Claims 1-16 are allowed.

The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance: Claims 1-16 are allowed since certain key features of the claimed invention are not taught or fairly suggested by prior art. In claim 1, "right-eye display means for displaying a predetermined image, said right-eye display means being provided on or in said main body in such a manner that said image is blurred or beyond the visible range of the right eye of said user when said user wearing said main body on his or her head looks straight ahead, and that said image is caught by the right eye of said user when said user moves his or her straight-looking right eye away; and left-eye display means for displaying a predetermined image, said left-eye display means being provided on or in said main body in such a manner that said image is blurred or beyond the visible range of the left eye of said user when said user wearing said main body on his or her head looks straight ahead, and that said image is caught by the left eye of said user when said user moves his or her straight-looking left eye away; said right-eye display means and/or said left-eye display means being provided in such a manner that they/it can be positioned and fixed to said main body at a certain position or positions suited for the right and left eyes of said user; and wherein said main body comprises a glasses frame having lower segments corresponding to the right and left eyes, said right-eye display means being provided on or in said lower segment of said glasses frame that is corresponding to the right eye whereas said left-eye display means being provided on or in said lower segment of said glasses frame that is corresponding to the left eye". In claim 15, "right-eye display means for displaying a predetermined image, said right-eye display means being provided on or in said main body in such a manner that said image is blurred or beyond the visible range of the right eye of said user when said user wearing said main body on his or her head looks straight ahead, and that said image is caught by the right eye of said user when said user moves his or her straight-looking right eye away; and left-eye display means for displaying a predetermined image, said left-eye display means being provided on or in said main body in such a manner that said image is blurred or beyond the visible range of the left eye of said user when said user wearing said main body on his or her head looks straight ahead, and that said image is caught by the left eye of said user when said user moves his or her straight-looking left eye away, said display device comprising at least a display screen on which images are shown and an optical system to guide an image shown on said display screen to the eye(s) of said user, said display device being formed as an integrated unit; and wherein said main body comprises a glasses frame having lower segments corresponding to the right and left eyes, said right-eye display means being provided on or in said lower segment of said glasses frame that is corresponding to the right eye whereas said left-eye display means being provided on or in said lower segment of said glasses frame that is corresponding to the left eye". In claim 16, "right-eye display means for displaying a predetermined image, said right-eye display means being provided on or in said main body in such a manner that said image is blurred or beyond the visible range of the right eye of said user when said user wearing said main body on his or her head looks straight ahead, and that said image is caught by the right eye of said user when said user moves his or her straight-looking right eye away; and left-eye display means for displaying a predetermined image, said left-eye display means being provided on or in said main body in such a manner that said image is blurred or beyond the visible range of the left eye of said user when said user wearing said main body on his or her head looks straight ahead, and that said image is caught by the left eye of said user when said user moves his or her straight-looking left eye away; at least a display screen on which images are shown and an optical system to guide an image shown on said display screen to the eye(s) of said user, said main body being adapted to be worn on the head of said user, said main body comprising right-eye holding means and left-eye holding means for firmly holding said right-eye display means and said left-eye display means, each of which is formed as an integrated unit, at appropriate positions; and wherein said main body comprises a glasses frame having lower segments corresponding to the right and left eyes, said right-eye display means being provided on or in said lower segment of said glasses frame that is corresponding to the right eye whereas said left-eye display means being provided on or in said lower segment of said glasses frame that is corresponding to the left eye". The closest prior art Blum, Ronald et al. (WO 01/06298 A) teaches a head mounted viewable display system includes displaying information, such as, a first line of characters on a micro-optical display having a micro-character display and using an optical element to project the first line of characters in the field of vision of the user, Robertson et al. support member by arm clip and extending into the field vision to offer a monocular viewing sight to a user, however, singularly or in combination with other prior art, fail to anticipate or render the above underlined limitations obvious.

4. Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."

Conclusion

5. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Spitzer (6,091,546) teaches an eyeglasses interface system.

Spitzer (6,384,982) teaches a head-mountable image display system provided an image to a user's eye separate from ambient light..

Kosugi et al. (6,483,483 B2) teach an eyeglasses type image display can be connected to a computer having a large amount of information.

Pandolfi (6,486,855 B1) teaches a mounted display system including a plurality of positions in the field of vision of a user by a mechanical linkage mounted on the user below the head.
